Five Minutes Out (a song for Jo)

Verse 1
You burn the toast and blame the machine,
You sing in the car like you're on the big screen.
You've been "five minutes out" since half past three,
And I'd wait all night, so what's that say about me?

Verse 2
You keep our ticket stubs in a coffee tin,
And every year you add another in.
You lose your keys, but you never forget
The name of every dog we've ever met.
